

The Watch: A Thoroughly Revised History of Civilization by Gene Stone

The Watch: A Thoroughly Revised History of Civilization is a comprehensive and engaging account of human history from the earliest hominids to the present day. Written by Gene Stone, a leading historian and author, the book has been revised and updated to include the latest scholarship and research.

The Watch is divided into four parts, each covering a major period of human history. The first part, "The Dawn of Humanity," explores the origins of our species and the development of early civilizations. The second part, "The Rise of Empires," chronicles the rise and fall of some of the world's most powerful empires, including the Roman Empire, the Chinese Empire, and the British Empire. The third part, "The Age of Revolutions," examines the major revolutions that have shaped the modern world, including the American Revolution, the French Revolution, and the Russian Revolution. The fourth part, "The Global Age," discusses the challenges and opportunities facing the world today, including globalization, climate change, and the rise of new technologies.
