As an avid hiker and trekker, I've always been drawn to the allure of Morocco. With its diverse landscapes, from towering mountains to sweeping deserts, it's a trekker's paradise. So when the opportunity arose to join Trekker Girl Morocco Bound, I jumped at the chance.

Trekker Girl Morocco Bound is a women-only trekking company that offers a range of guided treks in the Atlas Mountains and Sahara Desert. Led by experienced female guides, the treks are designed to provide an immersive and empowering experience for women of all ages and abilities.

Our trek began in the bustling city of Marrakech, where we met our guide, Fatima. Fatima is a Berber woman who grew up in the Atlas Mountains. She has a deep love for her homeland and is passionate about sharing its beauty with others.

From Marrakech, we drove to the village of Imlil, which is located at the foot of Mount Toubkal, the highest mountain in North Africa. We spent the night in a traditional Berber guesthouse, where we were treated to a delicious dinner of tagine and mint tea.

The following morning, we set off on our trek. We hiked through lush valleys, past cascading waterfalls, and up steep mountain passes. The scenery was breathtaking, and the views from the top of the mountains were simply unforgettable.

One of the highlights of the trek was our visit to the Berber village of Ait Benhaddou. This ancient village is a UNESCO World Heritage Site and has been used as a backdrop for many Hollywood movies, including Gladiator and Babel.

We also spent a night in the Sahara Desert. We slept in tents under the stars and enjoyed a traditional Berber feast. The next morning, we woke up early to watch the sunrise over the dunes. It was a magical experience that I will never forget.

After seven days of trekking, we returned to Marrakech. I was sad to leave Morocco, but I was also filled with a sense of accomplishment. I had pushed myself both physically and mentally, and I had made new friends along the way.

If you're looking for an unforgettable adventure, I highly recommend Trekker Girl Morocco Bound. Their treks are well-organized and led by experienced female guides. You'll get to experience the beauty of Morocco's mountains and deserts, and you'll make new friends along the way.

Tips for Trekking in Morocco

* Pack light: You'll be doing a lot of hiking, so it's important to pack light. Bring only the essentials and leave the rest at home. * Wear comfortable shoes: You'll be doing a lot of walking, so it's important to wear comfortable shoes. Hiking boots are ideal, but if you don't have any, sneakers will do just fine. * Be prepared for all types of weather: Morocco's weather can be unpredictable, so it's important to be prepared for all types of weather. Bring a rain jacket, a hat, and sunscreen. * Drink plenty of water: It's important to stay hydrated, especially when you're hiking in the desert. Drink plenty of water throughout the day. * Learn some basic Arabic: Learning some basic Arabic phrases will help you communicate with the local people. * Respect the local culture: Morocco is a Muslim country, so it's important to respect the local culture. Dress modestly, and avoid public displays of affection.

Trekking in Morocco is an unforgettable experience. With its diverse landscapes, rich culture, and friendly people, Morocco is a trekker's paradise. If you're looking for an adventure, I highly recommend Trekker Girl Morocco Bound.
